FOREWORD

For as long as I can remember, I have turned to my guitar to express the feelings that felt too big or too vulnerable for ordinary conversation. When I met Lola, my entire world found its center. She became my safest sanctuary, my fierce protector, and my favorite voice in the room.

As we began recording our catalog under KM Records and stepped onto airplanes bound for California—auditioning for film roles, tracking vocals in sunlit studios, and road-testing master tapes along the Pacific Coast Highway—I found myself wanting to hold onto the sacred, everyday moments words alone couldn't capture.

The whispered promises in tangled bedsheets. The nervous morning tea before stepping onto a Hollywood soundstage. The shared laughter over late-night tacos on the hood of our car after the director yelled 'Cut!'

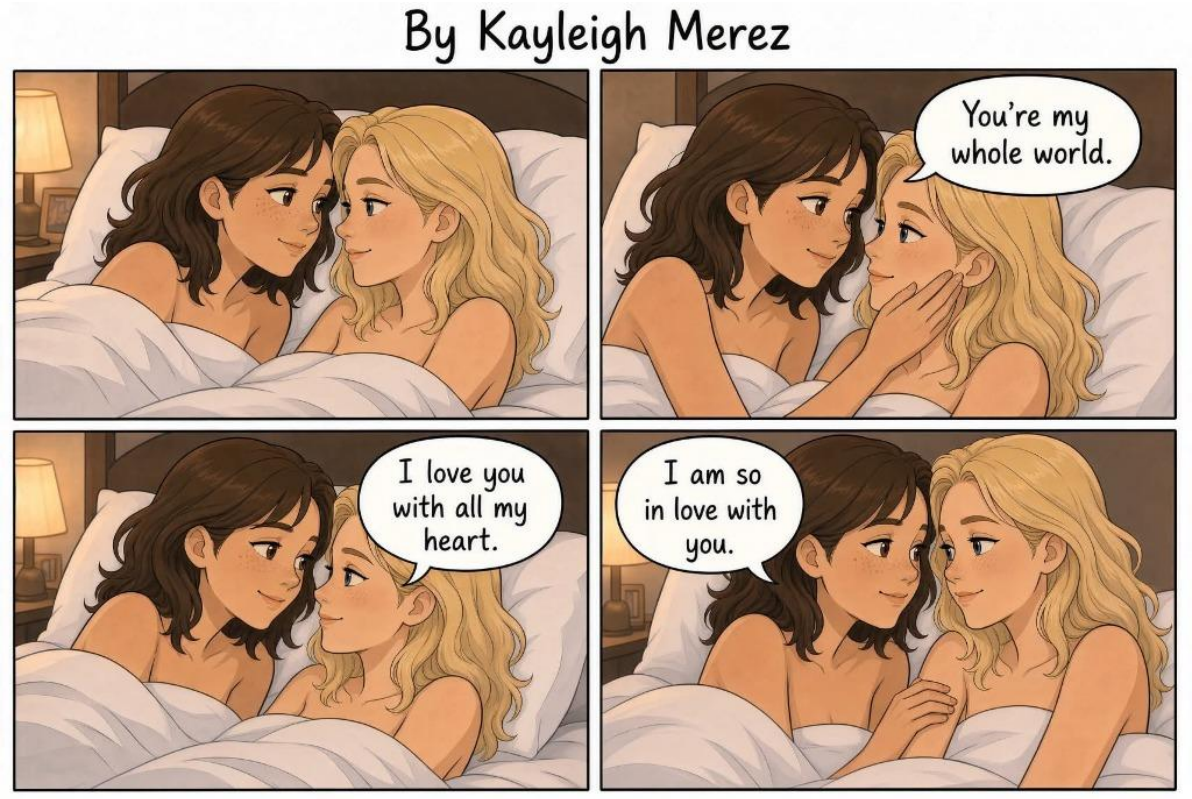

These 10 comic strips are my personal visual diary. They chronicle our journey from a quiet bedroom in London to the bright, open skies of California.

Thank you for listening to our music, for reading our story, and for walking this path beside us.

With all my heart,

Kayleigh Merez x
